

HOW ARE YOU?: #SERGINA'S LIVE PARTICIPATORY DIGITAL SOAP OPERA IN THREE ACTS

Elly Clarke

Art PhD Installation Series
INSTALLATION 36

Event: Tuesday 31st March 2020
Time: 5pm GMT
Location: on YouTube, Facebook & Zoom

For Elly Clarke's Installation, #Sergina (plural) takes over MARS to present an online digital re-run of a performance she did with Vladimir Bjeličić at ONCA in Brighton last summer entitled HOW ARE YOU? to reflect upon the aggressive, increasingly capitalist nature of this question and other questions that inevitably follow. Today these questions may sound a little different. They include:

What do you feel?
What are you feeling right now?
What feeling do you evoke?
How do you make others feel?
Can you be good to people?

Can you make people feel good?
Can you heal people, can you heal yourself?
Can you be reformative?
Can you be positive?
Can you be hopeful?
What is unity?
Can you make us feel in solidarity?
Can we make each other feel good?
Can we be reformative together?
Is our collective conscious still intact?

The performance will take place over Three Acts. And #Sergina would like you to join in. If you would like to participate via Zoom send us a message. Everyone else can observe the action via Facebook or YouTube.

Choose Your Channel. Use Your Phone. Your Data Will Be Gathered With Consent.

The performance begins at 5pm GMT and will last an hour with time for discussion afterwards.

Drinks are not provided but would help lubricate the action. This time, #Sergina is embodied by Elly Clarke and Vladimir Bjeličić.
